Depending on the observed classification method, industry groups may be further grouped into sectors, and in the case of the Global Industry Classification Standard, they are assigned a subcode for data and tracking purposes. GICS divides the largest public companies into 154 sub-industries, which are then grouped up to 68 industries, 24 industrial groups and 10 business sectors. The GICS classification system is similar to the system, followed by the Dow Jones indices, called the industry benchmark. Company: 501-1000 Employees Time Used: Over 2 Years Review Source: Captterra Proslt Easy to Use and Set Things Up, and When I Don't Know How to Like do something there is a reliable help site I can go for information. The platform is capable of all the features that we need and they always make improvements and adds functionality so we can stay cutting edge. I like that we can offer some education for free, and other courses at a price to users. TI simplifies both for us, and detailed reporting helps us keep track of all users visiting the site. I truly love using this platform. ConsThe platform may be a bit pricey, but you get what you pay for and in my book, it's well worth the investment. Mark from the Institute of Market Traders Size Company: 51-200 Employees Industry: Financial Services Time Used: Over 2 Years Review Source: Captterra Our Clients can navigate around their portal effortlessly, thanks to the ease of custom interface settings. Personally, I like the accessibility of the administration and the lack of visibility. Prosl attracts a modern, sleek platform design as well as ease of integration. ConsI does not use login restrictions as other users for detection/troubleshooting targets. The home/manager portal buttons at the top of the page are confusing and changing depending on where you are on the site, it baffles most of my internal users. A cost-effective response from IndustriesThank you so much for your review! Our team is currently fixing the consistency of the buttons across the platform as part of our initiative to provide consistent experience on the manager pages. As far as troubleshooting goes, your CSM will be in touch to get more information and see how we can best support you! We appreciate the positive feedback! We rely on your valuable feedback to continually improve our platform. Jim of The Hackett Group, Inc. Time used: Less than 12 months Review Source: Captterra Prosl Course Development easily accomplished without coding. The courses are easy to navigate from a student's point of view. ConsBack office management functions seem like an afterthought. Simple things such as sorting customer lists alphabetically or dumping student progress are not possible with the current release. Many questions to product support are interpreted as a request for additional training hours of design advice. Lea by InJoy Productions, Inc. Size Company: 11-50 Employees Industry: Hospital and Health Time Used: Over 2 Years Review Source: Captterra We use the platform to deliver eClasses as well as a digital version of our printed products. These two business models use different methods of access, and TI is always willing to work with us to find solutions and/or scope of our needs. They are very responsive to support requests and are always ready to help us solve our business issues. They are a great partner and For work! Prosl appreciates TI's willingness to work with us within our needs to meet our two very different business models. I also like that the platform has a lot of very reliable reliable still very easy to use. ConsThe reporting leaves much to be desired. Although there is a lot of data, the dashboards are not intuitive, and the use of date ranges does not change some data. Like the number of users it is always the same, no matter what the range of data. There is also a lot of usable data that has not surfaced in any of the available reports. Accountability can be a manual and tedious process. In addition, there should be more detail with permissions for the role, or the ability to switch functionality on and off for certain roles. I hope they invest development in a better content management system. My only other complaint is that you can't remove students (just disable them). One of the main reasons we choose TI is that the student experience (front end) was responsive, while most of the systems we looked at were MANAGED scoRM and fixed in size. The answer from the thought of Industries Save You so much for your review! We're happy to hear your positive feedback. We are improving our reporting capabilities and look forward to hearing your feelings about these changes. Company Size: 11-50 Industry Employees: Training and Coaching Time Used: Less than 12 Months Review Source: Captterra from day one, I was incredibly impressed with TI, their platform, and their customer support. There was a bit of a learning curve to go over the admin side and understand all the functionality, but how else would you be ingrained in the trenches of such a reliable eLearning held experience. And their voice customer process for presenting real-time feedback and improving the product is awesome! Their customer support is unparalleled and always ready to dive in and find solutions for my mistakes or admin requests. The ProsThe TI platform has so many types of pages and lesson functionality that we will entertain our students and progress by solving complex accounting and finance concepts. ConsThe reporting functionality is improving what I like. At first I generated user reports at the request of customers, and it seemed that the most basic information about student progress had been overlooked. Customers would like to know the percentage of students completing each course, rather than the core reporting areas started and completed, which were so black and white. I think the development team is working to make this reporting more mainstream, and I'm encouraged by that. I'm not sure which alternative product we're looking at, but we were impressed with this platform from 2 angles: 1 there were many ways in which a learner could interact with content. Drag-n-drop, flash cards, quizzes, buzzing style surveys, audio overlay file, slideshow presentation, built-in Click on reveal, etc. 2 was how this platform seemed to check out all the boxes from us providing this online training to our client. Whether our client needs this placement on their LMS, TI provides this solution. Does our ours need a solution with one sign, TI ensures it. Whether our client wants an external solution, but with registration codes, TI has it. Oh, you want a branded experience tailored to the customer, TI does it too.
